

Information about including FMR in your will

How to contact FMR with a question or concern

Donating to FMR online

Information about FMR's "Mississippi Messages" e-mail newsletter, including how to subscribe

Donating to FMR through the mail

Upcoming volunteer events

How to contact FMR staff

Upcoming interpretive tours

Information about FMR's Board of Directors

Upcoming lectures or educational workshops

Upcoming Special Places Tours (tours highlighting interesting historical or natural places in the Twin Cities area)

Information about our ongoing “Watershed Initiative” project

Sign up for an upcoming volunteer event

Information about our ongoing work to guide riverfront development related to the Upper Harbor Terminal site in north Minneapolis

Sign up for an upcoming interpretive tour

Information about our ongoing work to restore the Pine Bend Bluffs Scientific and Natural Area near Rosemount

Information about where and how to report dangerous spills, dumping, etc. that you have learned about or seen

Information about our current work to restore the Hastings Riverflats Park

Information about the general focus areas that FMR uses to guide our work: Watershed Protection, Conserving Riverfront Land, and River Corridor Stewardship

Information about our earlier work to guide the identification of greenways worth protecting in Dakota County

Information about our current work to facilitate the protection of identified greenways in Dakota County

Information about our ongoing work with private landowners in the Sand Coulee area in Hastings to restore the ecological health of their land

An overview of FMR's guiding mission and vision

Information about FMR's current work with Mississippi Gorge Stewards in Minneapolis and Saint Paul to protect and improve the Mississippi River in the gorge area of Minneapolis and Saint Paul

Detailed information about FMR Staff

Information about our Storm Drain Stenciling project currently active in Minneapolis and Saint Paul

FMR's history and milestones since its founding in 1993

Information about the Vermillion River Buffers project that FMR completed in 1999 and 2000

Information about our ongoing work to restore the Metropolitan Council's land at the Empire Waste Water Treatment Plant in Farmington

Information about FMR's role in the Big Rivers Partnership, a collaborative project that took place 1999-2004

Details about a wetland restoration volunteer event that took place at Katherine Ordway Natural History Study Area in 2004

A Citizen Action Alert related to a decision pending before the Farmington City Council (Citizen Action Alerts allow citizens to e-mail key decision makers about important issues.)

Photos from a Gorge Stewards Restoration Event that took place in Minneapolis in 2005

A Citizen Action Alert related to a decision pending before the Minnesota Legislature (Citizen Action Alerts allow citizens to e-mail key decision makers about important issues.)

Photos taken at an FMR fundraising event in 2002

Information about how our Citizen Action Alerts work -- what they are and how they are made available

Information about a Lawn Care workshop conducted by FMR in 2003, including links to materials distributed at the workshop

The Mississippi River Field Guide -- a web-based guide to interesting sites along the Mississippi River

Information about a birding hike FMR conducted in 2002, including links to the interpretive materials from the event

Information about Citizen A, an FMR volunteer who has helped organize volunteers in her neighborhood to help protect the River

Information about Citizen B, who organized fellow landowners in his neighborhood to organize habitat restoration work on their properties

A place to download FMR's current and previous Annual Reports

Phenology information (natural phenomena observed on particular dates of the year) that originally appeared in the "Mississippi Messages" e-mail update

Information about FMR's finances, including amounts spent on program work, management, and fundraising

Information about rare plants and animals that can be found in the Mississippi River Corridor

Information about how FMR collaborates with other organizations. Partnerships, collaboratives, organizational memberships, etc.

Information about birding in the Mississippi River Corridor

Information about media stories that feature FMR staff, board members, or projects, including links to the articles

"Birding Lists" showing birds that have been observed in the area. These different lists are submitted by FMR members and volunteers.

Information about media stories related to the Mississippi River, including links to the articles

Information about how web visitor information is used (for example, how will we use your e-mail address if you contact us with a question)

Article that originally appeared in our Spring 2003 printed newsletter about FMR's habitat restoration work at Pine Bend Bluffs Scientific and Natural Area

Information about joining FMR as a member, such as member benefits

Article that originally appeared in our Winter 2005 printed newsletter about FMR's involvement in land use planning for Saint Paul Park

Press releases that FMR has sent out related to a proposed development project in Saint Paul

Links to websites with information about birds and wildlife

A list of recent changes and additions to FMR's web site

Links to websites with information about FMR's collaborative work with the Minnesota Environmental Partnership

Press releases that FMR has sent out related to the Mississippi River Challenge paddling event

Links to websites of government agencies with river-related mandates or information

A list of what appeared in previous issues of the e-mail newsletter “Mississippi Messages”

Information about steamboat travel on the Mississippi River in the late 1800s

Information about bird migrations in the Mississippi River Corridor

Information about the ecology of the Mississippi River in the Twin Cities

Information about merchandise that FMR has for sale